DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in the reply filed on January 3, 2007 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that claims 7 and 8 depend from claim 1 and the search for the Group I claims would encompass the Group II claims. This is not found persuasive because the inventions require separate searches (method and apparatus) and a search for the method is not required for the Group II claims. Given the different fields of search and classifications of the inventions, the requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 2 is objected to because of the following informalities: in the last clause, the claim recites "at least one of forming the first reaction layer and forming the second reaction layer forming the first reaction layer or the second reaction layer," which appears to contain redundancies. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP 2002-298860.

The reference is directed to a method of forming an electrode catalyst layer of a fuel cell. As disclosed in the abstract, the catalyst may be sprayed repeatedly over the same area of a substrate that can be an electrolyte (11) or a gas diffusion layer (36) (see [0008]). The gas diffusion layer corresponds to the claimed "current collecting layer." As shown in Figure 3, a plurality of discharging nozzles may be used to form the reaction layer at predetermined intervals.

Regarding claims 4 and 5, unnecessary material (i.e., solvent) is removed from the reaction layer by a drying process at 80-100 degrees C (see [0014]). Regarding claim 2, the reference teaches that the fuel cell comprises two separator plates (i.e., substrates) (18) sandwiching a membrane electrode assembly (see Fig. 6). The membrane electrode assembly has two gas diffusion (current collecting) layers (13, 16), two catalyst (reaction) layers (12, 15) and an electrolyte membrane (11) (see [0007]). The steps of assembling the fuel cell components read on the steps of "forming" the components as recited in claim 2.

Thus, the instant claims are anticipated.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-6 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of copending Application Nos.

10/791,789 and 10/781,752. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the copending applications render obvious the instant claims.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
